Newcomers bring joy to care home residents

Participants in Regional Connections' Settlement Workers in Schools program made a pre-Christmas stop at Salem Home in Winkler to sing carols for the residents. The kids also spread some joy by way of the more than 150 cookies they baked to hand out as gifts.

Honouring Portage-Lisgar's Jubilee medallion winners

Just before the holidays, Portage-Lisgar MP Candice Bergen presented nearly four dozen constituents with Queen Elizabeth II Platinum Jubilee medallions. The recipients were nominated because they have demonstrated the qualities extolled by the late Queen Elizabeth II: public service, dedication, and sacrifice. In this week's edition of the Voice, we're shining a spotlight on these worthy honourees.

GORDON ATAMANCHUK (ST. FRANCOIS XAVIER)

In 1985, Atamanchuk started a small hardwood flooring installation business. This business has grown to include gym, school, and rec. centre floors. His contributions can be seen in the community he supports. In 1953, Atamanchuk received the Coronation of the Queen Certificate and he will be proud to pass this on to his 11-year-old grandson who is learning best leadership qualities.

RENATA BEAULIEU, KA KINEW ITAGOSIT (PORTAGE)

Recognized for her exceptional contributions to the preservation of culture and heritage through projects in education and advocacy for Treaty One in Portage la Prairie. She provided Indigenous language lessons for youth and was respected as a knowledge keeper. Beaulieu could also be seen volunteering at numerous events and Pow Wows. She passed away last July. Her daughter Jacinda Houlea accepted the award on her behalf.

KRISTOPHER BOWMAN (PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE)

Recognized as a veteran of the Canadian Armed Forces from 2000-2008 and a member of the reserves force until 2016. Post retirement, Bowman worked for Manitoba Corrections as a counsellor at the Agassiz Youth Centre. He has volunteered for over 10 years teaching Jiu-Jitsu at Portage Jiu-Jitsu and GMA'S Jiu-Jitsu and still finds time to support the Portage Royal Canadian Legion in volunteerism for various positions, including vice-president.

"It's just something I've always done"

By Ashleigh Viveiros

Giving back has always been a way of life for Gail Deere.

"It's just something I've always done," the Winkler resident and Queen's Platinum Jubilee Medallion recipient said last month, reached for an interview, fittingly, during a break from digging out her neighbours after a heavy snowfall.

"We're the youngest of the seniors on our street, so we do six drive-ways," she shared.

Deere's community involvements over the years have included volunteering at the Central Station Community Centre and the Morden Friendship Centre, visiting with residents in the Buhler Active Living Centre, and handing out corn at Morden's Corn and Apple Festival even before she called the area home (she moved here from Winnipeg over a decade ago but was involved at the festival for decades before that).

During the pandemic, her usual service efforts on hold thanks to public health restrictions, Deere set out to find other ways of putting a smile on people's faces.

"When it first got started I did a lot of walking, so I'd just knock on windows and ring doorbells and wave and just say, 'I hope you're doing okay. Happy COVID!' Just trying to make people laugh."

She made the rounds in both Winkler and Morden with her physically-distanced greetings, and then set her sights on bringing some cheer to the personal care homes in both communities as well.

"I cut out little hearts and wrote on them, 'You're loved' and 'Have a great day' or whatever and then I went around them and stuck them on all the windows of the rooms at Salem Home and I did the same thing at Tabor Home."

Many residents in Morden-Winkler those early pandemic days returned to their parked cars to find anonymous notes on the windshield encouraging them to "Have a good day" or "Stay happy."

"Just little things like that," Deere said, quick to downplay her efforts. "It really wasn't anything major ... I just wanted to spread some joy."

"I was trying to, as everyone else was, to make the best of this, certainly not thinking it was going to last as long as it has. But I thought, 'Let's make the best of this. Let's have some fun with it.' So I did a whole bunch of silly things."

Deere shared that she was frankly floored to be singled out for these simple acts of kindness and nominated for the Jubilee award.

"It's very humbling, especially when you think about how there's so many other people that do so many things for others," she said. "It makes me want to cry."

"I do this because I want to. I feel it's a calling from God, for me. And I figure my reward's going to be in heaven, but I think He figured I needed a perk up this last while, and it was like, 'I'll just give you a little teeny reward here on Earth.'"

What year is it again?

So here we are. We made it. We are now in a brand spanking shiny new year with all the hope, fear, and misdating of cheques that such an occurrence comes with (to which our GenZ friends reply, "What's a cheque?")

It is the year 4720 according to the Chinese calendar. It is 2566 according to the Buddhist calendar; 7531 according to the Byzantine measure; 2015 in the Ethiopian calendar (which means they're just getting the iPhone 6); It is 5784 according to the Hebrew calendar; It is 12023 according to the Holocene calendar; it is the year 1444 according to the Islamic calendar and Anno Domini 2023 according to the Gregorian calendar which was established by Pope Gregory XIII.

Anno Domini is Latin for "the year of the Lord" which is reference to Jesus Christ, previously sometimes written "anno Domini nostri Jesu Christi" or "the year of our Lord Jesus Christ." The idea was that Year 1 would be the year Jesus was born. Embarrassingly, it is now estimated that Jesus was born in 4 B.C., which must have felt odd for him.

Of course this all makes me wonder if people of other faiths would think of this as "the year of your Lord" or

"the year of their Lord."

The Gregorian calendar was a modification of the Julian calendar established under the authority of, you guessed it, Julius Caesar and the Romans in 45 B.C.E.

Of course when it was established they didn't know they were in the year 45 B.C.E. They thought they were in "the consulship of Caesar" and left it at that, although occasionally they measured from the year they thought Rome was established.

I am not surprised we have so many different ways of measuring time. As a species, we can't even agree on whether or not to keep Daylight Savings Time or not so why would we agree on a standard way of counting years?

Most forms of measuring years have something to do with a belief system. Obviously the Gregorian calendar was based on standardizing certain Christian religious holidays to particular times of the year (like Easter) not to mention tweaking some Roman issues with measurement that constantly messed with the year in general and created way too many leap days.

Interesting fact: Orthodox Christians continue to celebrate Easter according to the old Julian calendar, although they adopted the Gregorian modifications in 1923 for everything else (a little late) which they called "the Revised Julian Calendar."

I find it odd that we base things like the calendar year on one or another particular faiths or various other culturally significant historical events. It certainly is one more way of ensuring ongoing sectarian conflict ... aka one more thing to argue about.

Personally I like the idea of a Metric Year which would consist of 10 months of 10 weeks of 10 days of 10 hours of 10 minutes of 10 seconds etc. You get the idea.

When would Year 1 begin? Hmmm ... tough one. The best candidate would simply be the year such a calendar was adopted.

Of course we could set 1799 as year 1 because this was the year the metric system was first adopted in France, the country of its birth. That would mean we would be celebrating the year 224 now.

Frankly, knowing human nature, such a proposal would almost certainly a guarantee complete unity of all people of varying beliefs in their absolute hatred of such an idea, how-

Jubilee medals a sweet surprise for Altona couple

By Lori Penner

An Altona couple was surprised to learn they were both recipients of the Queen's Platinum Jubilee medallion.

Guy and Colleen Mullen have been integral advocates in their community for many years, but for two different causes.

Colleen was recognized for being a champion for mental health in Altona and Rhineland. She has been working on youth suicide prevention for the RHA and organized the first teen mental health workshops in the area.

She has served on many committees with Southern Health and the Mood Disorders Association of Manitoba. She was also on the board of directors for the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Colleen has been promoting awareness of mental health issues and helping people for the last decade or more. Along with undertaking ongoing training and working to raise awareness, she has also made herself available, developing relationships with people and advocating for them.

She prefers to stay out of the limelight, but says she is grateful for the recognition.

"I do feel very honoured. But I have my own personal reasons for doing the mental health promotion that I do. Even if I can prevent one person from dying by suicide, my work will be done."

Guy, meanwhile, has been a huge supporter of his community for most of his life.

He has been an enthusiastic member of the Altona Elks for over 25 years, at a provincial and national level. He was instrumental in fundraising for the Altona Elks Playland, which is in constant use by the little ones who visit the Millennium Exhibition Centre in Altona.

He has supported patients for 37 years as a medical technologist in the diagnostic unit at the Altona Health Centre. He has also supported ongoing education for the diagnostic group in the area.

Guy has served on the South-Central Regional Library board and the United Church board for a number of years, coached minor baseball and hockey, and was also the president of the Pembina Valley Academy for continuing education, as well as rural director for the Cardiology Society.

Guy was recognized for his forward thinking and his ongoing commitment to make his community a better place to live.

"I was completely shocked to receive this award. I had no idea," he said. "It was a humbling experience, because we were in very impressive company, with people who put their heart and soul into helping people."

"For me, it's always just been a labour of love. Being there for the people of my community and beyond is just something I need to do. Any recognition is appreciated, but my reward comes from knowing that I helped somebody."

A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

The groups of residents cited in the Dec. 22 issue of the Voice who made appeals to the Winkler and Altona councils to restrict library funding most certainly are attempting to ban certain library books and censor educational material in our region.

I have not specifically read the books cited in the Voice article. All that I learned about these books I researched on the internet. What I discovered was that the authors of these books are educators and they have written multiple educational books, a few that are intended to educate on matters related to sex. What I also discovered is that these books are housed in hundreds of libraries around the world. They are generally lauded and viewed positively by reviewers and journalists.

I also learned that these books are frequent targets for banning by groups with certain affiliations in certain jurisdictions.

As a friend of SCRL, I have great concern that residents with certain beliefs feel that they can somehow dictate what citizens can read and use as educational material. It sets a dangerous precedent that if allowed, could expand to concerning levels.

The last thing Canada needs is some form of morality police. We are not the in the Middle East, an area of the world where I am not even sure a majority of its citizens approve of having their morals dictated to them (even though that is a reality).

Characterizing our librarians and library volunteers as pornographers and putting our municipal politicians in awkward situations to make your point leaves me feeling uncomfortable.

I hope the concerned citizens who approached the Winkler and Altona councils to restrict library funding are spending as much time talking to their children about these matters. Telling them to stay away from certain books you do not approve of is within your right. Allowing the same people to dictate morality to the population as a whole sets a dangerous precedent I do not accept and I hope citizens who share this concern raise their voices against it.

I urge municipal governments to maintain funding of our libraries and concerned citizens to review the information on Change.org (search for "SCRL") and sign the petition in support of maintaining library funding.

Jeffrey Wooster,

ever this would only serve as a sign that we are on the right track.

I should say, as evidence of the confusion of methods currently employed, WHEN the new year starts varies from system to system too ... it's not all as of January 1.

At any rate, regardless of what year you think it is and when your year starts, I am here to simply say: Happy New Year to you and yours. May it be a year defined by peace, tolerance, and diversity ... those things that are the best of us all.

Medal a bittersweet honour for prenatal care advocate

By Lori Penner

A Gretna resident is being recognized for her successful volunteerism to positively affect change in prenatal care in Manitoba.

Jenna-Lee Catherine Luptak lost her second son Beau in January 2021 due to a liver disorder called Intrahepatic Cholestasis of Pregnancy (ICP) that she developed in the third trimester of her pregnancy.

Since then, Luptak has advocated for critical life-saving tests to be provided and has worked with Manitoba Health and Southern Health to inspire changes to high-risk pregnancy and bereavement care maps for medical professionals.

She has been engaged by the Manitoba Government Policy & Planning Secretariat to help develop program and infrastructure support for families experiencing the tragedy of an infant's death. She is driven to continue to be instrumental in saving the lives of Manitoba's precious resource: our children.

She is grateful for the recognition, but receives the Jubilee medallion with mixed emotions.

"I didn't anticipate it, and I wouldn't be doing the things I'm being honoured for if my son had not passed away."

Luptak and her husband Michael recently started a charity called "A Beau.tiful Journey" in honour of their late son and their journey together as a family of four.

"We started our charity to build awareness regarding ICP in our communities and to raise funds for the organizations who conduct vital ICP research and create educational materials for medical professionals and the general population. We also aim to build bereavement services within our communities."

Luptak says their goal is to educate families about the risks involved with ICP, and to take symptoms such as the insatiable itch that accompanies it seriously.

"There is a lot of research going into ICP these days because they're finding that the incident rate is higher than what was previously reported," she says. "We've had many families come forward who have been impacted by this condition themselves. It's profound and powerful to have these connections, and heartbreaking to hear these stories."

"We're all in this together"

By Lorne Stelmach

Dr. David Goerz firmly believes that you get as much out of being part of a community as what you put into it.

The Morden resident, who is known for the Care Dental Group, likes to quote Winston Churchill, who is attributed as having once said, "We make a living by what we get but we make a life by what we give."

"It's wonderful to be part of the community," said Goerz, who was among the recipients recently presented with the Queen's Platinum Jubilee Medallion by Portage-Lisgar MP Candice

Bergen in commemoration of the 70th anniversary of the late queen's accession to the throne.

"We're all in this together, and if you can do it together with other people and paddle in the same direction, you get to the destination so much faster," said Goerz.

Goerz has a varied record of community service, from having been involved with the former Kinsmen Club in Morden to serving on the boards of the Winkler Flyers and the Minnewasta Golf and Country Club.

"I've always thought the golf course is one of the pillars of our community in terms of community and recreation," said Goerz, who reflected on the terrible loss of the fire that destroyed the clubhouse but also presented the opportunity to move forward with something new. "I know people have moved to this community because of the golf course in their retirement years."

Goerz of course is well-known for his dental practice, but his community involvement has been as important if not even more so to him over the years.

"I was very humbled to receive the award," he said. "The resounding message I heard [at the presentation] was that everyone was humbled ... and everyone I talked to said they didn't do it for an award, giving back to the community.

"It was never done for a pat on the back ... it's just giving back," he continued. "I think of the queen, and we've now lost her, but her life was a legacy of giving back to the community."

"It was a wonderful recognition for sure," said Goerz, who hopes the stories of the selected recipients will perhaps encourage people to either step up or keep doing what they are doing in their communities.

"I think maybe, at the end of the day, an award like this can be used to encourage people," he said. "It's good to give back a little bit ... get out of your bubble at least a little bit and make a difference in somebody else's life."

ROSE CARRIERE (PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE)

Recognized for her commitment to the community. She has made outstanding contributions with her volunteerism, participation, and leadership with the Portage la Prairie Citizens on Patrol Program. Carriere has been instrumental in keeping people safe by helping to report, educate, and be vigilante about crime, road related initiatives, and general awareness in the riding.

“Very quickly I started getting involved”

By Ashleigh Viveiros

Former Winkler mayor Martin Harder was recognized for a lifetime of community service as a recipient of the Queen Elizabeth II Platinum Jubilee medallion this fall.

In addition to 16 years at the head of Winkler city council (a role that wrapped up in October with his retirement from politics), Harder has been a deacon and lay minister with his church, a regular volunteer at the Central Station weekly community meal program, an annual volunteer with the Winkler Christmas Cheer Board hamper distribution campaign, and has had a leadership role in countless community projects, including the creation of Bethel Heritage Park, the Buhler Active Living Centre, and Eleanor’s Reading Nook at the Winkler Centennial Library.

“My connection with Winkler goes pretty deep,” Harder says, sharing how his life was saved as an infant by medical staff at Bethel Hospital.

When he found himself making Winkler his home later in life, he felt called to get involved as much as possible in projects that contributed to the betterment of the community he had grown to love.

“Very quickly I started getting involved—through the chamber of commerce, through the Harvest Festival,” Harder says, recalling his early years of lending a hand wherever he could.

Looking back at the lengthy list of projects he assisted in bringing to fruition, three really stand out as being points of pride for Harder.

“Buhler Active Living Centre, Bethel Heritage Park, and the Meridian Exhibition Centre,” he says, noting all three were passions of his apart from his role as mayor.

The heritage park, located on the former Bethel Hospital site downtown, was top of mind for him as he pondered running for mayor.

“I remember initially back in ‘06 getting involved in trying to persuade people that we needed the park where it is right now,” Harder says. “I am a firm believer that as people living in a community you need something more than bricks and mortar and businesses and politics—you need a place to be able to call home, a place to be able to unique, a place to just be. Bethel Heritage Park meant that for me.”

Harder was later a major champion of the Buhler Active Living Centre project, which sought to provide a space for seniors to age in place in the community with assisted living services.

“I thought how was it possible that a community like Winkler could not provide services to those seniors who needed a little bit of help?” Harder says, lauding the community for pulling together to make the facility a reality by providing the needed financial support.

Getting hands on with these and other initiatives has been profoundly rewarding for Harder.

“When I look back at my community involvement, it has always been driven by a sense of need, of meeting needs in the community,” he says. “It’s a sense of caring for others, I think, that is one of the most important things in my life.”

“I didn’t expect any kind of acknowledgement”

By Lorne Stelmach

Rick Wiebe has been there for people in perhaps their most difficult times in life, and his years of compassion for others earned him recognition recently.

The Morden resident was honoured with the Queen’s Platinum Jubilee award for his work through the family business, Wiebe Funeral Homes, as well as his involvement in the local music scene.

Wiebe was cited for his calm and sensitive demeanor in providing essential care to families through his work in the funeral profession.

Now 69, he took over the business from his father in 1971 and continued until he retired in 2014.

“The accolade for me, receiving it because of my professional involvement in the funeral profession, is really tremendous,” said Wiebe.

“To get acknowledged, even especially in the year of the Queen’s death, is special too. My dad was such a monarchist; he loved the queen and thought she was a tremendous part of growing our nation.

“I’ve always loved my involvement in the funeral profession,” continued Wiebe, who sold the company to employees upon his retirement. “The compassion needed for the people we were dealing with was so important ... that’s what I really enjoyed about being in the profession ... people still come up to me and thank me at times, and that’s really amazing. I appreciate it.”

Wiebe added that he certainly would have never expected any special recognition.

“I didn’t expect any kind of acknowledgement from being in the funeral profession,” he said. “But to receive the medal from Candice [Bergen, Portage-Lisgar MP] was nice because she is a personal friend as well. For her to be able to present this to me was special.”

Wiebe was also cited for his contributions to the music scene in southern Manitoba, including not only performing widely himself but also supporting fellow musicians.

Music has always been important to him, and he appreciates being able to play with and encourage other talented local artists.

“I always had the liberty to be able to express myself with music, and I’ve appreciated that,” he said. “I could always do that as well as my profession.”

GIL COLLET (NOTRE DAME DE LOURDES)

Collet is a successful business leader, mentor, innovator, and promoter of the Francophonie in the community of Notre Dame de Lourdes. A 25-year school trustee who employed hundreds in his community, he has aided in keeping the French language alive while also mentoring many throughout his career.

KATHERINE CORBEL (ILE DES CHENES)

Recognized for her outstanding contributions and community support through programs such as the Smile Cookie, which helped fund the splash park, and donations to many other events such as Love Morris and DEKALB Super Spiel. She and her husband Keith introduced the Tim Hortons Timbits Soccer program with 60 children receiving jerseys, shorts, socks, and a soccer ball.

CANDACE DERKSEN (ALTONA)

Derksen’s voice could be heard over the airwaves during the pandemic and her stories could be seen online. She delivered stories of hope and promise. Through those uplifting stories and reports of residents we experienced encouraging accounts of people who were unsung heroes in their own rights that were trying to help ease the impacts from the pandemic.

SUDOKU

Fun By The Numbers

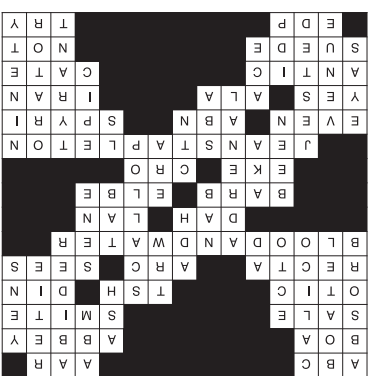

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

IN MEMORIAM

Ruth Gall (nee Link)
1928 - 1990

Always in our hearts
Always on our mind, forever in our hearts
You'll be with us forever
Gone yet not forgotten
May the winds of heaven blow softly,
And whisper in your ear;
How much we love and miss you,
And wish that you were here.
You may be gone from our sight,
But you are never gone from our hearts.
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal,
Love leaves a memory no one can steal.
Your life was a blessing,
Your memory a treasure;
You are loved beyond words,
And missed beyond measure.
We will hold you in our hearts
Until we can hold you again in heaven.
-Dearly missed by your family

IN MEMORIAM

Elmer Friesen

December 13, 1940 - January 5, 2022

A year ago January 5, 2022 Elmer went to be with Jesus. We will miss his special smile, his caring heart, and that warm embrace he always gave us.

God saw you getting tired,
And a cure was not to be;
So He put His arms around you,
And whispered "Come to Me".
With tearful eyes we watched you,
And saw you pass away;
And though we loved you dearly,
We could not make you stay.
A golden heart stopped beating,
Hard-working hands at rest;
And although our hearts were broken,
We know- God knows best.

-The family

OBITUARY

Bernard (Ben) Harry Hemminger 1924 - 2022

On Saturday, December 24, 2022 at Tabor Home in Morden, MB. Ben Hemminger, 98, formerly of Darlingford passed away.

Bernard Hemminger was born on March 31, 1924 to parents Henry and Minnie Hemminger who farmed south of Thornhill, MB. He was the third of six children. As young men, Ben and his brother, Clifford started farming together in the Windygates area and shared the same farmyard. Ben married his first wife, Phyllis (Swanky) of Dominion City in 1953 and they had two sons, Terry and Larry. Phyllis passed away in 1968 when the boys were still quite young. Ben continued to farm and raise his sons on his own. Ben loved the land and farming. He worked long hours and took great care in everything he did. Every tool was picked up and put away. His fields, yard, garden and home were always neat and well cared for. Ben married Doreen Fijala in 1983 and they moved to Morden. Ben continued to drive out to the farm to help out and he spent long hours on the tractor doing fieldwork, a task he especially enjoyed. Ben was blessed with good health which allowed him to drive tractors well into his senior years. Ben enjoyed the outdoors - hunting, fishing, snowmobiling and golfing were favorite past times. A special fishing trip with his two sons took place in 2011 to catch sturgeon on the Fraser River. Ben was 87 years old then and the fishing guide said Ben was the oldest fisherman he had ever had on his boat. Ben and Doreen enjoyed many activities together - travelling, camping, playing cards, dancing and being involved in their families' activities and life events.

Ben is remembered by his wife, Doreen; and his son, Terry (Glenda) Hemminger and their daughters, Rachel (Sean) Miller, and Kristen (Jamie) Hemminger; his son, Larry (Sheila) Hemminger and their son, Brian (Shannon) Hemminger, and daughters, Callie (Jared) Fofonoff, and Jennie (Chris) Moffatt and five great-grandchildren, stepson, Ron Fijala and his son, Tony (Suzie) Fijala, stepdaughter, Sharon (Bob) Tremere and their son, Mark (Alison) Fijala, and daughter, Melanie (Jarret) Tremere, stepson, Doug (Debbie) Fijala and their son, Danny (Amber) Fijala, and daughter, Tiffany (Eric) Ching and nine great-grandchildren.

Ben was predeceased by his first wife, Phyllis, an infant daughter who died at birth, his stepson, Dennis Fijala and all of his siblings, Celia (Titchkosky), Clifford, Herb, Leonard and Arthur Hemminger. Private service was held on Tuesday, January 3, 2023 at Wiebe Funeral Chapel in Morden with ash interment at Chapel Cemetery. The family would like to thank the doctors, nurses and staff at Tabor Home for taking such good care of Ben in his final years. Donations may be made in Ben's memory to Tabor Home Inc.
